My son was receiving additional help towards learning as he requires additional support so would be nice if this could happen in a small group also

Really pleased. The live videos and feedback are fantastic. It's lovely for them to still feel connected to their class/friends too.

As discussed with Mr Booty, we fully appreciate the difficulty in setting work that stretches all different abilities and understand this is presently being looked at. Thanks for all the hard work and continuing support.

It's really hard to work with both children so maybe give the deadline a little longer.. as having a younger child with some additional needs I find myself stressing and stressing them because we are rushing some days.. but great work all the staff have done.. Thank you for trying to help and support the children at home

Post the work the night before!

I think that there should be more face to face sessions with the teachers and other children, even if they are short sessions, just a catch up or register so they can see each other, and these sessions should be spread throughout the week, not all on the same day and then no other contact all week. I think the children should submit one piece of work per day. It would also be helpful if there was a section of "additional learning material", things that don't need to be submitted but if the child has completed the English and maths work provided they still have tasks they can do.

I have been very impressed with how well home learning has been managed so far, the children have work to do every day and the teachers are always there if we or the children have any questions. I would like for my son to have a little more work to do as he is usually finished by lunchtime but having said that he is an over achiever and I can appreciate that not all children may be as advanced as him in their learning. You are doing a great job, thank you very much!

For a working parent of two, I find the work perfect. The minimum required is just the right amount with additional learning for quieter days.

The staff have done an amazing job and my son is doing a lot better at home schooling than he was at the infants. Well done everyone!

You're all doing a fab job! :)

You doing excellent work, thank you.

Just like to say that we are incredibly thankful for everything you have all done at Springfield. Thank you.

Think everyone is doing brilliantly and can't thank you all for helping us through this time

Ready printed work sheets would be much appreciated.

It could be more lessons online etc french , art ...
